Craven Arts Council & Gallery is excited to bring back Critters, an annual holiday tradition, an exhibition loved by all. For the months of November and December, artwork featuring our favorite animals deck the walls of the Main Gallery at Bank of the Arts. The exhibition celebrates all creatures that walk, wiggle, fly, swim, or slither. Critters highlights local artists' depictions of animals of all sorts. Mediums include photography, painting, sculpture, and ceramics. Join us for the opening reception and meet several of the artists during ArtWalk on November 8th from 5-8pm. When searching for the perfect gifts for your friends and loved ones for the holidays, think of Bank of the Arts and all of the one-of-a-kind animals we have available.

MARY PHELPS,

Join us at the November ArtWalk at 6:45pm for a holiday performance by The Pamlico Flutes. The group came together in 2010, bringing to the stage over 270 years of musical experience. They have performed at garden parties, weddings, nursing homes, the Hope Clinic Ball, New Bern's ArtWalk, by special request in Fairfield Harbour, and are regulars at The Gallery in Oriental during Spirit of Christmas, and the Pamlico Community College's annual Oysterfest. We look forward to hearing them perform a variety of songs sprinkled with some holiday favorites here at Bank of the Arts.

THE PAMLICO FLUTES

During the December 13th ArtWalk, Monica Minus will hold a book signing of her first book, Soulful Prayers: The Power of Intentional Communication with God. Through this soul-stirring prayer anthology, Cheryl Polote-Williamson and 52 coauthors offer sincere prayers for trusting in God, finding peace and power in forgiveness, healing from grief and loss, discovering your purpose, and reviving hope and love. Books are available for purchase for $20 in our gallery.

Director's Gallery

NOVEMBER

Craven Arts Council & Gallery is proud to present the work of Catherine Thornton in the Director's Gallery for November 2019. A versatile painter and sculptor, Thornton's work has been featured in numerous exhibitions and publications across the United States. Catherine earned her BFA in Painting and Sculpture from Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia, while in her mid 30's, but she was not able to consistently pursue her art career for another fifteen years. In those fifteen years however, ideas, concepts, and techniques were explored, diligently filed away on several sketch pads, envelopes and dinner napkins and assigned to the future. Her professional launch came about through a summer course at Penland School of Crafts and consequently being accepted into Artspace in Raleigh, NC. Craven Arts Council will host an opening reception during the New Bern ArtWalk, November 8th, from 5 to 8pm.

Craven Arts Council & Gallery is proud to present the work of Andrea Owens in the Director's Gallery for December 2019. Artist, singer-songwriter, actress, Andrea owns and operates The Red Shoe Studio Gallery, a working fiber arts studio and fine art gallery in New Bern, where she creates one-of-a-kind wearable, and sculpted fiber art. Growing up in the coastal, artist community of Rockport, Massachusetts provided Andrea with many opportunities to study art with several well-known local artists, as well as an appreciation for the magic of the sea which continues to inform and inspire her music and art. Her most recent work explores mark-making on botanical-printed, hand-made felted fabric. "In my work as a felt maker, I am drawn to the alchemy of the wool and the water, which together create a magic all their own, manifesting beauty of and with nature." Andrea said. Largely self-taught, Andrea has studied techniques in felt-making with renowned fiber artists Kristy Kun, Christine White, and Robin Firth. She continues to explore the endless and inspiring possibilities of fiber and to offer workshops to those who share a curiosity and would like to learn more. Craven Arts Council will host an opening reception during the New Bern ArtWalk, December 13th, from 5 to 8pm.

The Art of Giving

When asked recently why she donates to CAC&G, Barbara Brown, an artist represented in the gallery shop, Emeritus board member and current volunteer responded: "Wow. It's complicated. I wanted to do more than simply pay for a membership, volunteer a little, and write a somewhat larger check at the end of the year. I wanted to help sustain the mission of the organization. I started by roughly doubling what I gave at year end, and set up that amount (divided by 12 months) on autopay from my checking account. I've increased the amount periodically through the years. There are so many things or ways that we spend money without thinking about it, be it a daily cappuccino or two, or a couple of lottery tickets, why not redirect some of that money to something which will benefit the community? Also, seeing the impact that was made by two of our docents who included the Arts Council in their wills, CAC&G is also part of my estate plan."

Craven Arts Council & Gallery is fortunate to receive funds through agency grants and from the North Carolina Arts Council but the majority of our budget comes from fundraisers, gallery sales, rentals, memberships and annual giving. We would be unable to fulfill our mission or fund a number of our events if it weren't for the generous support of members like you. We need to continue to be good stewards of this magnificent building, which as you can guess, requires maintenance from being 100 plus years old as well as from the wear and tear of having thousands of visitors come through our doors annually, which is a great problem to have. So, as you contemplate your year-end giving and your required IRA minimum distributions, please keep Craven Arts Council and Gallery at the top of your list, knowing that your support makes a huge difference now and planned giving from your estate will help ensure our future.

For the month of December, the Craven Arts Council and Gallery will be hosting crafts and local music each Saturday at Bank of the Arts.

Hank Williams Sr. Performed by Blue Cactus November 16th

Dubbed the "King of Country," Hank Williams Sr. was one of the first country music superstars in the world, and helped to shape and define the genre for decades to come. Learning folk, country, and blues from the age of eight, Williams' radio debut was at the age of 13, with his first band, Hank Williams and his Drifting Cowboys. Commercial success started in 1947 with "Move It On Over," and was quickly followed by a total of 35 Top Ten Hits, 5 released posthumously after his tragic death at 29 of a heart attack. Hits include "Hey Good Lookin'," "I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry", and "Honkey Tonk Blues."

Blue Cactus makes country music for people who think they don't like country music and people who love what country music used to be. Based out of Chapel Hill, NC, Blue Cactus is led by Steph Stewart and Mario Arnez who create songs that range from gritty honky-tonk to heartbreaking balladry. Inspired by the iconic vocal harmonies of the Everly Brothers and dynamic twang of great singers like Loretta Lynn and Patsy Cline, Stewart and Arnez conjure a sound that will take you on a familiar journey into uncharted country, expanding tropes and breathing hope into the genre's limitless possibilities. Tickets are $20 for members and $25 for nonmembers, and are available in person at Bank of the Arts, over the phone at 252.638.2577, or online at www.cravenarts.org.

Banner Project 2020

Get ready, it's that time of year again to show your true colors by ordering colorful banners to adorn Broad Street and artfully represent New Bern's numerous cultural offerings. The Unity Through the Arts Banner project helps connect uptown and downtown and encourages people to value and experience New Bern's numerous offerings while also helping support Craven Arts Council's programs.

What's on the Banner?

- Image of an original work of art by an area artist (artists submit a high-quality jpg of a painting, pottery, performance or other cultural work or event.)
- The name of the artist
- The sponsor's choice of text (no logos), which could include:
 - a business or organization name
 - an event or program
 - an individual's name

If needed, CAC&G will assist in finding the artist/image which best represents the sponsor's organization or business line.

What Are the Benefits?

- Creative and positive visibility appear along high-traffic areas.
- Your image and message are displayed 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
- Downtown businesses that purchase a banner can be included on the ArtWalk card and receive ArtWalk cards each month.
- NewBernBanners.org website will link viewers with all Banner Project participants' websites.

Whom Would I Honor/Promote?

If you have a favorite local nonprofit, event or artist you would like to honor or promote, provide that information on the application.

To purchase a banner visit the Bank of the Arts; or call 252-638-2577; or email programs@cravenarts.org

Call-for-Volunteers

We are seeking volunteers to assist with as sorted tasks and events here at CAC&G. In January, various projects we need to complete include minor maintenance and painting, but we make sure we have fun!

Pat Preston, one of our dedicated volunteers says "Volunteering at the art gallery is a great pleasure to me. I get to meet new people from all walks of life, and I am surrounded by beautiful art work." You might recognize another volunteer, Laura O'Shurak, who graciously dedicates her time at every ArtWalk to ensure refreshments are plentiful. Thank you Pat, Laura, and our numerous volunteers who enable us to continue to ensure that the arts flourish here at the Bank of the Arts!

Singer-Songwriter Jane Kramer

November 6, 7pm, at City Stage (901B Pollock St.)

With deep roots in the musical traditions, culture and lore of her beloved Appalachia, Kramer's songs are introspective, gracefully gritty and fiercely memorable. They elegantly sweep listeners down the gravel roads and southern coastal highways, midnight truck stops and lonely motel rooms of "hard learning" and lead home to the wooded Blue Ridge Mountains with moving acceptance of our flawed human experience. Kramer's live performances are equally poignant and engaging, rich with accessible, warm, often hilarious storytelling and gracefully lifting the veil between audience and performer. Kramer recorded and released her first solo album, Break & Bloom, in Portland, Oregon in 2013. Following the February 2016 release of her acclaimed sophomore solo studio album, Carnival of Hopes, Kramer has been touring nationally and internationally, playing for sold-out audiences in listening rooms, theaters, pubs, festivals, living rooms and arts councils in support of the record. This has gained her a loyal following from Portland, Oregon to Scotland, U.K.

The American Revolution-A Maritime Conflict, A presentation by Jay DeLoach, Rear Admiral, USN Ret.

November 16, 12pm in the Student Center Nauman Room at Craven Community College

While Americans associate the American Revolution with mostly a series of land battles, the maritime component of this conflict played a central and quite significant role in achieving our independence from England. Admiral DeLoach discusses the roles and weaknesses of the British Royal Navy during this conflict, the fledgling Continental and State Navies, the significant impact of privateers, and the strategic contributions from France, Spain, and Holland who together challenged England for command of the seas. Rear Admiral Jay DeLoach graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1978 and served on submarines as well as several assignments with Naval Intelligence, 7th Fleet, and Joint Staff. He earned three Masters degrees in Management, Nuclear Engineering, and National Security & Strategic Studies. He also served as an adjunct professor for the Naval War College and taught Joint Maritime Operations. Members and guests attending the program have the option of pre-ordering lunch provided by Savage's Woodburning Pizzeria. Please email colonialnc@esuus.org with questions or to place lunch order.

December 11 - The Great Fire of 1922 presented by Carol Becton

It was on December 1, 1922, nearly 100 years ago. A fire started at the Rowland Lumber Company on the banks of the Neuse River. Then another fire started in a home on Kilmarnock Street near the Five Points intersection. And many of the city's firefighters were attending a state championship football game in Raleigh. And the winds were whipping up a firestorm. The result was the Great Fire of 1922. More than 3000 people were left homeless and 40 city blocks destroyed. At The New Bern Historical Society's December 11 Lunch & Learn, Carol Becton will share the story of the fire, its results, and the aftereffects that are still with us.

Encore! The Last POW presented by Steve Tyson

November 6, 6:30pm at the NC History Center

Tickets are available for $10 at the Historical Society at 511 Broad St., by calling 252-638-8558 or at www.NewBernHistorical.org/tickets.

It is a compelling story. There were about 500 German and Italian POWs here in New Bern at Camp Battle for two years during World War II. Then the war ended. In 1946 Camp Battle was closed. What happened to those prisoners? Steve Tyson traced the story of the last POW to leave Camp Battle. His research even took him to Germany.

Annual Gingerbread Contest & Display

The New Bern Historical Society is pleased to do it again this year. Everyone is invited to make their own gingerbread creation and enter it in the contest. Don't delay, the deadline to enter is November 11, 2019. Completed houses will be displayed at selected downtown merchants November 24-December 20. Annual Lore Lecture

Retracing John Lawson's Voyage of Discovery

November 17, 2pm at the NC History Center

Tickets are available for $10 at the Historical Society at 511 Broad St., 252-638-8558 or at www.NewBernHistorical.org/tickets.

In December 1700 John Lawson, a young man from London hoping to make a name for himself traveled to the Carolina Colony. For reasons oft-debated in these parts, he undertook a two-month journey through the still-mysterious Carolina back-country. His 1709 book, A New Voyage to Carolina was considered the finest description of the Carolinas in the early colonial period. Historians and scientists today still refer to his descriptions of flora, fauna, inhabitants, and geography. In 2014, as an MIT Knight Science Journalism Fellow, Huler undertook his own journey by foot and canoe, faithfully retracing Lawson's route through the Carolinas. Combining a traveler's curiosity, a naturalist's keen observation, and a writer's wit, he finds surprising parallels between Lawson's time and our own. A reception and book signing follow the presentation.

The musical begins as the bells of Notre Dame sound through the famed cathedral in fifteenth-century Paris. Quasimodo, the deformed bell-ringer who longs to be "Out There," observes all of Paris reveling in the Feast of Fools. Held captive by his devious caretaker, archdeacon Dom Claude Frollo, he escapes for the day and joins the boisterous crowd, only to be treated cruelly by all but the beautiful gypsy, Esmeralda. Quasimodo isn't the only one captivated by her free spirit though - the handsome Captain Phoebus and Frollo are equally enthralled. As the three vie for her attention, Frollo embarks on a mission to destroy the gypsies - and it's up to Quasimodo to save them all. A sweeping score and powerful story make The Hunchback of Notre Dame an instant classic. Audiences will be swept away by the magic of this truly unforgettable musical.

Their neighbor, Fred Gailey, tries to woo Doris by charming Susan and taking her to see Santa Claus at Macy's, where Doris works. Doris is not impressed, but when it turns out that Macy's Santa may, in fact, be the real Kris Kringle, a wave of love spreads across New York City that melts even the most cynical hearts.

A Letter From the Director

Well, it happened again. Time flew by and fall has officially arrived. In the midst of holiday preparations, I don't want to overlook two very important holidays that fall before Christmas - Veterans Day and Thanksgiving. We are very fortunate to live in an area filled with active and retired military, who have worn their uniforms to protect the values and liberties this country was built upon. The board and staff and CAC&G realize that they continue to contribute greatly to our community once the uniform comes off. I am excited to announce that Tom McCabe, a retired Marine, who is also an extraordinary photographer, has agreed to work with students from military families for a new initiative called "Through the Lens", funded in part by the North Carolina Arts Council and the Harold H. Bate Foundation. Look for more info in the March/April edition of the Luminary for this program which will show life through the perspective of children in military families, culminating with an exhibit in April to coincide with the month of the military child.

Then we usher in Thanksgiving which is now almost the unofficial start to the holiday season. There are so many people that I am thankful for outside of my family and loved ones that I want to recognize. First of course is CAC&G's most capable staff of Jon Berger and Dara Morgan and our engaged board members. If you are reading this Luminary, you have supported CAC&G in some special way, being either a member or a donor. Last and certainly not least are the incredible volunteers that assist us in a wide array of tasks, not always glamorous (but we try to make it fun.) Craven Arts Council & Gallery is an intricate puzzle that would be incomplete if any of the previous pieces were missing so thanks to you all for making us whole and viable and available for the Craven County community! Wishing you all a peaceful, happy and healthy fall and holiday season. -Eileen Bress
